

Levanta Renewables partners with Triconti Windkraft Group to develop Atimonan Onshore Wind Project in the Philippines

SINGAPORE, 1 DECEMBER 2025 – Levanta Renewables (Levanta), Actis’ pan–Southeast Asia renewable energy platform, has signed a strategic partnership agreement with Triconti Windkraft Group (Triconti) to jointly develop the Atimonan Onshore Wind Project in Quezon Province, Luzon, the Philippines.

Awarded under the Government Energy Auction 4 (GEA-4), the project is scheduled for commercial operation in 2028. It is expected to add significant clean power capacity to the grid and support the Philippines’ goal of achieving 35% renewable energy share in the national energy mix by 2030.

According to Pramod Singh, CEO of Levanta Renewables, “Partnering with Triconti brings together their deep local knowledge and Levanta’s proven development track record across Southeast Asia. The Atimonan Wind Project reflects our shared confidence in the Philippines’ renewable energy sector and its ability to attract long-term foreign investment. Together, we aim to advance a high-quality project that supports Luzon’s growing demand and contributes to a stronger, more resilient national energy mix.”

“Winning GEA-4 was just the start,” said Lila M. Rosenberger, President & CEO of Triconti Windkraft Group. “Our job now is to make good on that commitment—moving these projects from paper to power. Working with Levanta gives us the strength and expertise to deliver efficiently and ensure this wind farm brings lasting benefits to communities while advancing the country’s energy independence.”

Ravi Chandran, Head of Philippines Task Force, Levanta Renewables, added, “This collaboration combines complementary strengths to develop Atimonan as a world-class wind project. By combining Triconti’s local expertise with Levanta’s disciplined development approach, we are well-positioned to deliver reliable clean power while engaging regulators, local governments, and host communities to ensure lasting value.”
